

CLAIMS

1. A spray gun for fast setting plural component materials, said spray gun comprising:

a gun body connectable to first and second sources of plural component materials

5 and having a port for each said component;

a mix module located in said gun body, said mix module fluidly communicating with said ports and having a central bore for mixing said components, said mix module being constructed of a poly ether ether ketone reinforced with graphite and PTFE lubricants; and

10 a purge rod moveable through said central bore.

2. The spray gun for fast setting plural component materials of claim 1 wherein said mix module is constructed of KETRON™ PEEK HPV.